THE ADDITION. THE ADDITION.

The members of the Metropolitan Museum of Art beld their annual meeting yesterday aftrnoon in the Museum in Central Park. Officers were chosen for the coming year, the ballot resulting in the unanimous re-election of John Taylor Johnston as presented the coming year. imous re-election of John Taylor Johnston as president; William C. Frime, first vice-president; Daniel Huntington, second vice-president; Henry G. Marquand, treasurer; and Louis P. di Cesnola, secretary. Richard Butler, William L. Audrews and Theodore Weston were re-elected to serve as trustees for the term ending in 1893. The report of the trustees for 1885 was read. It said that the receipts for the year had amounted to $37,04450, all of which except $68 25 had been spent. The property of the Mascum is valued at $827,69149, an increase of $44,220 over the value in 1884. The report continues in part as follows:

report continues in part as follows:

The attendance of cisitors on free days during the past year has been greater than that in the previous year ay mearly 27,000, and the indications are that the number of visitors is steadily on the increase. The general collections have been increased by gift to the Museum during the past year of many valuable objects. I mong these are a second collection presented a few weeks before his death of william H. Huntington, of Paris, which is to be added to his former gift. It comperses medials, bronzes, oil paintings, porcelains, ministers, suggravings and prints relating to Washington and Franklin. A collection of 140 medials commandative of the campaigns of Napoleon I, was presented by Levi P. Morton, formerly American Minister to France, which were struck at the National mint of Paris, at his request, expressly for our Museum. A large collection of auclent

While the erroneous statement has been rejeatedly made in public prints that the Museum is supported by the public, yan have been content to continue your large annual donations in money for the mere expense of keeping your own Museum oper, free to the public. This you have done solely because your generous purpose in founding the Museum was public education, and your purpose in your annual expenditures is the same. Whether or not your generosity is appreciated, or is even known to the public as a fact, has never concerned you, or affected the steadfastness of your devotion to the Museum.

ONE CARESSES THE BULLDOGS.

Even the fascinating turkeys and seductive Wyandottes found themselves put in the shade by the collection of dogs which yes erday took its place in the Fanciers Show at the Madison Square Garden. When ten thousand-dollar dogs are on exhibition even high-priced fowls have a poor chance for popular favor. Many of these dogs are foreigners, and many are "quite English." There are no less than twenty kennels of spaniels in the exhibition, besides forty setters and a large number of other dogs of high degree and blue-blooded extraction. The mastiffs St. Bernard's and Newfoundiands are the most popular favorites. The largest dog in the show is the huge St. Bernard. Merchant Prince. The next largest is the St. Bernard Otho, from the Hospice Kennels of Newark. Merchant Paince is valued at $10,000 and Otho at $4,000. The exhibition of Newfoundlands is unusually line. Many of them are contributed by the Buena Vista Kennels, of Westchester. Among them are Baronne, who took the first prize at the Crystai Palace bench show in 1884, Stella and Julian.

Crystal Palace bench show in 1884, Stella and Julian.

There is a good collection of buildogs, which gaze on the crowd that flows past their kennels with a wholesome ferocity that is firely captivating. People somehow do not display that strong desire to caress a healthy building that they do the representatives of the other breeds, but are content to admire them from a distance, People not familiar with the good points of dogs or conversant with poultry linger lovingly about the incubators and brooders. Now that the incubators hatch eggs and the brooders take care of the chickens, all that is necessary is to invent an incubator that will hatch an artificial egg, and the hen will be relieved from all further responsibility.

HOW THE DONAU'S CUTTER WAS SUNK.

The examination regarding the collision of the tug boat Blanche Page with the cutter of the Austrian corvette Donau was begun before Judge Smith at the Tombs Police Court yesterday morning. Two of the sailors, Venzenelli and Molk, who were on the cutter, were examined. The Austrian Consul, Mr. Fritsch, acted as interpreter. They repeated their former statements about having lights in the cutter, and said that they saw no light on the tug. They did all they could by shouting and swinging their lights to attract the attention of those on board the tug. The first witness examined for the defence was the deckhand Elias G. Brooks, of No. 181 Court-st., Brooklyn, who stated that he placed the customary lights on board the tug and based lights to be placed on the scow in tow. He said that he saw all the lights in their proper places after they left Arbuckle's Stores in Brooklyn, also at the time of the collision, and when they got to Twenty-esventh-st. to put up for the ingits. He said he heard the shouts and toid the captain tof stop the tuggand back the engines. This was immediately done. He saw no light on either the cutter or the laqued which was being towed. Michael Keily, of No. 407 West Intrinches, ta freight-handler on the scow, confirmed the statements. The captain, engineer and cook of the Blanche Page also testified. Other witnesses who had seen the accident gave contradictory evidence about the lights. The case was adjourned until saturday morning at 11 o'clock. The Austrian cor-HOW THE DONAU'S CUTTER WAS SUNK.

MAKING A LIBRARY FOR THE BLIND. THE PRESENT QUARTERS TOO SMALL-MONEY NEEDED TO SECURE LARGER ROOMS.

THE PRESENT QUARTERS TOO SMALL—MONEY NEEDED TO SECURE LARGER ROOMS.

About six months ago, chiefly through the kindness of some subscribers to The Thibune, a free circulating library for the blind was opened at Ninth-ave, and Twenty-eighth-st. A few books were bought and others were presented by the Boston Institution for the Blind, the Louisville Printing House for the Blind and Mr. Ruees, the Philadelphia publisher. The library has now about 110 volumes, including pamphlets. The books are printed on single sheets of paper, the sheets being pressed down hard on the large types, leaving an embossed impression on the reverse side. The pages are oblong in shape and measure generally about eighteen inches by ren. When bound they look much like the old style of family Bibles. The New-York library has several volumes of Bulwer's works, a few of Dickens's, some plays of Shakespeare, "Phyrim's Progress," Swedenborg and the Bible. Knees's Montaly Magazine for the Blind is also furnished by the publisher. The books, of course, are costly. The parts of a work are small and each part costs from $2 to $5$. The Bible, for instance, must be printed in a great number of parts. A single volume edition of it would weigh about sixty-four pounds. The New-York library has specimens of the three different methods of printing for the blind. The first is that of line letters, in which the ordinary Latin alphabet is used, though the types are maguified to the size of capitals. The second is the point system. The sheets of the book are punctured so as to leave allo of rough hote-points on the opposite side. From the relative positions of the points the relative positions of the points the relative positions of the points who have lost their sight when some what any abreviations are used, as in writing shorthand.

MR. DORSHEIMER'S RESIGNATION.

Mr. Dorsheimer was at his office in the Federal Building yesterday, and said that he was making preparations for his retirement from his duties as United States District-Attorney. He was engaged for some time in consultation with his chief assistant, General B. B. Foster. None of the Federal of ficers had any ideas to express as to the probable successor of Mr. Dorsheimer. The names of E. Eliery Anderson and of one article deaders of the County Democracy were mentioned by visitors as being under consideration to fill the vacancy.

It was mistakenly stated in an article yesferlay in regard to Mr. Dorsheimer's resignation that neither United States Marshai McMahon nor Mr. Dorsheimer had been confirmed by the Senate. The truth is that General McMahon's nomination was confirmed with a promptness that was extremely gratifying to him and to all his friends. But Mr. Dorsheimer was not confirmed.

REGOKLYN OFFICIALS PUZZLED. The Demogratic city officials in Brooklyn are sitting up nights puzzling their heads over a method of getting around or through the strongly constructed Civil Service rules laid down by Mayor Low and the Commissioners is his approximent. Mayor Whitney has expressed himself as in favor of what he calls "practical examinations." He acks ingenuously of what use it would be to taxpayers to be assured that the clerks in mandeipal offices know the boundaries of the Cainces Empire or the average depth of the ocean. But the greatest sting-ling block in the path of the new heads of Brooklyn departments is the presert eligible list, prepared by the old Civil Service Commissioners for two years. They have the power arbitrarily to dismiss all the employes under them, but to fill their places will have to select from the names now on the list as perilled to them by the Commissioners. As there are few Demograts now on the list charges would result in placing Republicans in positions now include by Republicans in positions now include the places with the commissioners. As there are few Demograts now on the list charges would result in placing Republicans in positions now include the places with the process of the latest device is to get the men whose names are on the list to resign. Mayor Whitney has pronounced himself in favor of doing away with the present eligible list completely.

SEEKING STREET RAILROAD FRANCHISES. The Aidermen's Committee on Railroads yesterday listened to the application for a franchise for a railroad in the Southern Bealevard. Frederick R. Condert said that the company intended to construct a railroad beginning at the southern Boulevard, at the morthern end of the Third Avenue Bridge over the Harlem River, along the Southern Boulevard to the old Boston Post Road. He said that a good part of the route hat in dwellings on either site, because of the lack of railroad facilities. Morgan J. O'Brien also appeared in behalf of the company. A. W. Evarts, son of Senatot Evarts, appeared on behalf of the executors of the Paul Spoffard estate, and opposed the granting of the franchise. The hearing was closed.

General Negley, of Pittsburg, advocated granting a franchise to the Citizens' Railroad Company to construct and operate a railroad in various streets south of Fourthst. The hearing in this case was also closed. The committee will report at its next meeting.

MANY DEATHS WITHOUT MEDICAL ATTENDANCE. Dr. Nagle, of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Dr. Nagle, of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, called the notice of the Health Board yesterday to the large number of cases where people die without medical attention. The history of these cases shows that iften a month clauses after a doctor has seen the invalid before death takes place, and Dr. Nagle suggested that in many of these cases there can be no doubt that human life is sacrificed to ignorance and negligence. The law requires that to properly certify to the cause of death the physician must have seen the patient twenty-four hours before death. Hence these cases go to the concret. Last year these officials certified to 2,417 cases of death by disease.

The experience of the coroners show that dense ignorance lies at the root of this evil. Application at the nearest police station will always bring a dector, who is sure of his pay, for if the patient cannot pay the city will. A list of physicians of the night medical service who can be called on is kept at every station. Besides these there are the dispensaries with resident physicians whose business is to answer night calls.

CHARGED WITH CUITING OFF A BOY'S FINGER. Nicholas Lichtleitneir, an engineer, employed Nicholas Lichtleitneir, an engineer, employed in a cigar factory at No. 423 East sixty-third-st., was tried yesterday before Judge Cowing, in the Court of General Sessions, on a charge of nearly cutting off the finger of Joseph Reilly, a six-year-old boy who lived a few doors from the factory. The complaining witness and Courad Digner, a playmate, both testified that the engineer, who was apparently annoyed by the boys of the neighborhood, seized the little feilow, held his finger actors the railing on the street in front of the factory, and brought his cigar kulfe down on it, nearly severing it. The boy showed his wound, which had been concealed under a red mitten. The defendant said that he only opened the door of the factory and heard the boy ery out. He supposed that the boy "efineer caught in the door and was injured in that way. He denied having used the kulfe. The case was not decided because one of the jurors was taken sick before an agreement had been reached and the jury was discharged.

POLICE OFFICIALS SURPRISED BY DOGS. POLICE OFFICIALS SURPRISED BY DOGS.

The officials at Police Headquarters were astounded yesterday morning, when A. Poly, an expression of No. 179 Greene-st., drove up to the big white building in Mulberry-st, and began unloading twenty-one dogs and a goat. The expressman said that his lively load was part of the performers in the variety show of Thatcher, Primrose and West, which he had been engaged to transport from Niblo's Garden to Jersey City. When he reached Jersey City he demanded his $3 for expressing, but was told that he would have to go on to Paterson to get it. This he refused to do, and brought the dogs and goat to Police Headquarters.

Superintendent Murray refused to allow the animals to be stored in the building. Poly then started with his load for the pound, but the matter was compromised. He got his money, and the yelping dogs and mediative goat pursued their journey to Paterson without further hindrance.

PATERSON SCHOLARS YIELD TO THE BOARD.

The course of the graduating class of the High School in Paterson, N. J., in declaring that they would "cut" the commencement exercises to be held in the Opera House to-morrow evening, was the chief topic of conversation in that city yesterday. The position of the Board of Education, however, was too strong to be successfully resisted, and it was generally predicted that the graduating class would surreneer, although several prominent citizens expressed their readiness to make up a handsoone subscription list and hire a hall for the graduating class, where they could conduct the exorcises under their own management. The graduates, however, did not see how they could well carry out commencement exercises without the presence and aid of the municipal antinorities, and the offer of the sympathizing citizens was not accepted. The committee on Teachers of the Board of Education sent Dr. Reinhart, the principal of the High School, a communication implying that he would be held responsible for any refusal of the graduates to perform their exercises. Dr. Reinhart yesteriay sent a note to the committee reminding them that the pupils had fluished their course of study some days ago, and were no longer under his control, and that he had nothing to do with their action except as he might advise them as a friend. Dr. Reinhart was busy yesterday persuading his former pupils to yield to the Board of Education and accept the situation, and at a meeting of the graduating class held yesterday persuading his former pupils to yield to the Board of Education and accept the situation, and at a meeting of the graduating class held yesterday afternoon it was decided, though by no means unant-mously, to go to the Opera House on commencement in ght and give the programme as though nothing unpleasant had occurred. The feeling of the class was that this action should be taken to oblige Dr. Reinhart, and not because they did not feel themselves the victims of injustice.

BURGLARS BUSY AT NEW-ROCHELLE.
Burglars visited New-Rochelle on Sunday night and broke into two houses, one of which was that of the Rev. Thomas 'IcLaughlin, of the Church of the Blessed sacrament. The priest's residence is adjoining the course. The burglars entered through the front basement window, and ascending to the library, burst open a secretary and stole 85, which it contained. They turned things upside down in the room, scattering papers and letters over the floor. Father McLoughlin was asleep upstairs, but he did not hear anything. After satisfying themselves that they could get no more, they departed as they came, through the window. dow.

The burglars theu, it appears, went to the house of William Baber, where the climbed into the kitchen window and stole some silverware, among which was a silver pitcher presented to Mr. Baber by the verify of Trinity Church as a token of his services in the choir. INDICTED FOR THE TARRYTOWN BURGLARIES. INDICTED FOR THE TARRYTOWN BURGLARIES.

The Westchester Grand Jury examined a large number of witnesses yesterday from Tarrytown in regard to the recent masked burglaries in that village. The jury finally found indictments against two Tarrytown men, but they will not be arrested at once because the District-Attorney expects to cause the indictment of several others who are known to be connected with the roberles. Recent developments make it clear to the authorities who the robers are, and before many days all of the thieres will probably be in pail, and much of the property will probably be recovered.
